COL. W. H. BETTS' ESTATE.

Mr. Moses Weil Files an Important Amdavit in the Case, Since Dr. Wm. E. Schaefer filed a poti-tion for letters of administration on the es-tate of the late Colonel Wm. H. Botts, charging that Betts owed him $350.50, Judge Pelham, on behalf of Mrs. Betts, filed a counter affidavit charging that Schaefer's claims were fraudulent. Now comes another affidavit, filed this morning by Moses Weil through Attorney Charles S. Moore.

Moore.

Weil swears that he was well acquainted with Betts, and boarded at the same restaurant with him for a long time; that he was with Colonel Betts a great deal during the last two years of his life. A few months ago Colonel Betts began to take his meals further up town, and affiant did not see a great deal of him until about the 10th of last June.

At 2 o'clock in the morning of that day Colonel Betts came to affiant's house, knocked at the door and said: "For God's knocked at the door and said: "For God's days. On the morning of the 14th of Jone Betts was unable to arise and was very sick. The day before this affiant told Betts he could not take eare of him longer. Betts replied, "Don't desert me. I have money and will pay you. Schaoffer has my money and is giving it to me in dribblets, and I have money beside, but don't know how to get it. I will pay you when I get well."

At 2 o clock in the morning of that day Colonel Betts came to affiant's house, knocked at the door and said: "For God's sake let me lie down." Affiant remarked that he had but one bedroom and could not accommodate him. Betts said: "Give me a chair, let me lie on the floor, or anything." Affiant then received him into his house and took care of him for several days. On the morning of the 14th of June Betts was unable to arise and was very sick. The day before this affiant told Betts he could not take care of him longer.

Affiant further says that Judge Pelham came to his house and inquired for Betts. Coloniel Betts begged Judge Pelham to not let him go to the hospital; he preferred to die there. Judge Pelham gave affiant $5 to procure comforts for Betts. Betts was taken very ill that night and affiant, at his suggestion, went after Dr. Schaefer. Witness went after Schaefer, who promised to call but did not. Affiant went after him again at 2 o'clock on the morning of the next day and told Schaefer that Betts was dying. Schaefer sid he could do no good and to go after Dr. Jolly. Affiant went after Dr. Jolly who did not respond but sent a note to Dr. Elliott. The latter was at church.

Notwithstanding affiant's efforts to accure medical attendance, neither Schaefer nor Jolly came until 1 o'clock in the affernoon.

Notwithstanding affiant's efforts to secure medical attendance, neither Schaefer nor Jolly came until 1 o'clock in the afternoon of the 15th, and they then said that Colonel Betts was dying and could not live a half an hour, but that he ought to be sent to the hospital to have a decent place to be buried from. Betts was at the time uncoascious, and Judge Pelham asked Dr. Jolly if he was sure Betts would never recover. Jolly said: "It is impossible; he is too low." Judge Pelham had Colonel Betts removed to the hospital that afternoon.

to the hospital that afternoon.

Affiant says that Betts frequently told him during his sickness that Schneffer had him during his sickness that Schaeffer had money belonging to him, but that he (Dr. Schaeffer) was treating him wrongly and would only give him a dollar at a time. Affiant frequently wont with Colonel Betts to Dr. Schaeffer's drug store during the time that Betts was at his home, but before he was bedridden, but could never find Schaeffer in; that Betts told affiant that he had often gone of late to Schaeffer's store, but could never find him in, and that Betts complained hitterly of Schaeffer's treatment complained bitterly of Schaeffer's treatment of him. Weill closes his adidavit by saying that, from the statements made to him by Betts and his knowledge of the resources and habits of Betts, he conscientiously believes that the pretented claims of Schaeffer against Betts' estate are fictitious and fraudulent. Still Another Affidavit.

Mr. Charles A. Walter also made an affidavit in the Betts-Schaeffer matter, to show that Betts had a great deal of money shortly before his death, and therefore had no reason to borrow from Dr. Schaeffer. Mr. Walter states that Betts several times during the past two years borrowed money from his father, Justice Walter—sometimes from his father, Justica Walter—sometimes $160 at a time—sometimes several hundred; that Betts always repaid the money; that the last money Betts borrowed from Justice Walter was about $100.

Dr. Schaeffer indorsed Betts' note, and when the note was due affiant went to Schaeffer to get the money, because he had been informed that Betts was sick and that Betts wanted the money collected from Schaeffer. Schaeffer informed affiant that Betts had just received $3,000 and would be out of the hospital on the next day and would pay it; that Betts came to affiant's office a few days afterward in company with Dr. Jolly and paid the note from a roil of bills.

of bills.

Affiant called Betts' attention to a note sticking out of his pocket, and said: "You are about to lose a $20 note." Betts took the yellow note, opened it and said he would not lose it; that it was a thousand-dollar note. Affiant examined it and saw that there were two one thousand dollar notes instead of one, and each was a yellow one thousand dollar gold certificate. This oc-curred only a few days before Betts' death.

THE REGATTA.

Active Preparations in Spite of the Threatening Weather.

Preparations for the Potomac regatta were perfected last evening at a meeting of the joint committee. They finished the few remaining preliminaries and had the crews and scullers draw for positions. The stations will number from the Virginia shore, and, with the present freshet, the station next that shore, at least in the first station next that shore, at least in the first races, will be the best by odds. The posi-tions in the three principal events are as follows: In the senior four-cared shell race the Columbias have the Virginia shore, Elizabeths the centre and the Potomacs the Elizabeths the centre and the Potomacs the Maryland. In the gig race the Pennsylvanias have the Virginia shore, Columbias the centre and the Norfolks the Maryland. In the senior single scull race Mumford has the Virginia, Slatzell next, Smithson next and Kearney the Maryland shore.

An official programme of the entries and colors was not furnished the press, but was accurately compiled from unofficial sources as follows:

as follows:

First race, 4 o'clock, junior singles. Prize, medal. Confestants—Smithson, of the Potomace, red; Perley, of the Analestans, white.

Second race, 4:30 o'clock, senior fours.

All the crews and singles were out last evening practicing on the course, and an immense number of pleasure boats were out on the course, their occupants engaged in watching the crews, taking the time counting the stroke, etc. The Columbia eight rowing like clockwork, the Elizabeth four with their results electric actoric. four with their peculiar electric stroke, the Potomacs with Courtney alongside in-tently watching their movements, the Pennsylvania model jig crew, the Norfolks' and the Ariels' bright uniforms, were among the attractions that presented themselves, and the ladies from the pleas-ure boats and Analostan galleries expressed their admiration of the manly forms and their admiration of the manly forms and handsome costumes.

Everything seemed to be in readiness for close and carnest contests to-day and it was apparent that several thousand dollars was destined to change hands on the issue. The betting was very lively. The favorite wager apparently was an even bet that the Columbias can or cannot carry off the paint in three of the few contests for which they have entered. five contests for which they have entered. Pennsylvanias, Elizabeths and Potomacs were willing betters against Columbia whenever opportunity offered, and Columbia men were anxious to get every available dollar on their own crows against the field. Not a Very Cheering Prospect, But the Races Will Not be Post-

But the Races Will Not be Postponed.

The beatmen were not encouraged this morning when they found a dreary rainstorm in progress, and the clearing skies of the forenoon did not entirely restore their spirits, steadily increasing current and a southeast wind filled the river with whitecapped waves. The rains of the past week had not affected the river until late last night, when the freshet got this far down and began to rush off with great force, rendering rowing up stream very difficult, except near the shore on either side. The current increased to-day and it was atmitted that the time would be very much slower than anticipated, probably not less than eleven minutes in any instance.

None of the crews were out this morning, but pearly all the contestants spent

None of the crews were out this morn ing, but nearly all the contestants spent the day at the boat-houses, and there was much excitement and animation. It was remarked that the difficulties of waves and currents would give the local clubs the advantage growing out of their superior knowledge of the course.

There is no idea of a postponement of the races as the visiting clubs would be unable to remain, and the objectionable current would be but little better to-merrow than

this morning for assaulting a colored man without provocation.

He was defended by Mr. H. H. Wells, jr. A respectable-looking mulatto man named Mm. F. Ellis stated that about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon he and another colored man named Randolph Green went into Tierney's restaurant, on New York avenue, botween Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, to get a glass of beer, and when they were in the act of leaving, the defendant asked them if they were litaine men or Cleycland them if they were Blaine men or Cleveland men. He said to witness, "I know you are a Blaine man," and raising his cane, he struck witness on the hand with it. He followed them out on the sidewalk and committed another assault on witness with the cane.

Green corroborated this statement.

O'Brien denied the assault, and said he only asked them to join him in a drink.

Judge Mills said the extent of the assault did not amount to much. But here were two peaceable citizens going into a licensed place to transact business and were attacked. If there had been a slight provocation, and the assault had been more serious, the outrage would not have been s, the outrage would not have been eater. A fine of $5 was imposed.

TWO ATRLETIC BRUTES.

Sweeney and Nicholson are Convicted of the Assault on the O'Com-nors and Receive Just Sentences. Charles Sweeney and Frank Nicholson the two young East Washington roughs who so brutally assaulted old Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor, of Seventeenth and East Capitol streets, were put on trial in the Police Court to-day. Memrs, Cahill and Mackey appeared for Sweeney and Nicholson respectively.

There were two charges of assault against

The first witness was Dr. Beatty, who testified to being called in to attend Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor. He found Mr. O'Connor in a comatose condition. Maggie O'Connor, a daughter of the other vitnesses, also testified to the circum-tances of the assault, which showed it to se one of the most brutal and shameful affairs that was ever tried in this court. Other evidence was heard, which was simply accumulative.
